Concentrations may be developed for students interested in fields such as community development, environmental policy and sustainability, health services administration, higher education administration, non-profit management, public policy analysis, and recreation and tourism. Other concentrations may be exercised with the consent, advice, and approval of the Graduate Coordinator.

Students who elect to take only nine or twelve hours of coursework may satisfy the remainder of the required degree hours with optional thesis or professional development/internship credit. Please review the Focused Studies with the Graduate Coordinator.
